"I think I remember Ishwar Puri Ji say that if we do what our Master instructs, it is doing seva for Him. Maybe this helps explain that:

From Stranger of Galilee By Russell Perkins. "By loving everyone regardless of any dividing factor that may be present, we are doing [the Master's] work. By seeing another's point of view, by hearing his or her story, by understanding that there is always a reason for everything, by forgiving even those things that are done against us - in these ways we are doing the Master's work. If we love Him and want to do His seva, this is what we must do..

The Masters have often talked about this; it is the basis of the teaching that if someone loves us and we love the Master, their love for us will go straight through us to Him. It is the underlying reason why the Master can come and take care of people at their death time even if they're not initiated. If they are loved ones of ours who genuinely love us, and we are connected with the Master and love Him, their love will go right past us to Him.

We have heard Masters.. explain this many times: the more love people have for those who are connected to the Master, the more their love will go to Him and they will get the benefit as though they were loving Him directly. This is one way to share what we have been given and "let our light shine forth." The Master's interest lies in taking us Home-all of us. Good or bad, eager or indifferent. We could say, in human terms, that it is an obsession with him. He really has to do it, not on the level of "belief" or this or that, but on the level of being; and reaching people through us is one of His best means of working.

He has given us so much love and protection and caring that it is important for us to live that way for others. By being as lovable as possible or by simply being nice to others, we can help Him in his work. The quality of not judging others - that all Masters have stressed so strongly - is an important part of this.

When we don't judge others we allow them scope to receive what the Master wants to give them; and when we do judge or criticize people, we come between them and the Master. Being loving and uncritical is a very important part of helping Him in his work"
